QUIETEST JULY 4
IN HISTORY HERE
IS ANTICIPATED

Ban On Fireworks Having
Its Effect, Mayor Says;
Sees Few Violations

PARKS READY FOR HOLIDAY CROWDS

Golf and Country Clubs
Have Full Programs
For Wednesday

Salem is looking forward to the
quietest Fourth of July celebration
in its history tomorrow.

Little pre-Fourth shooting of fireworks has been heard in the last few days in contrast to the week leading up to the Fourth in other years,
and little noise is expected tomorrow.

Picnics, outings, a gunshoot, golf
and tennis tournaments, swimming,
boating, dancing and motoring will constitute the program of the people
of Salem and vicinity will participate in tomorrow. Amusement parks,
with their fitting variety of programs and fireworks will call many.
Motoring is expected to break all
touring records for the year.

Country, Golf Club Programs
At the Country club, a gunshoot,
tennis tournament, swimming, boating, fishing and dancing will be enjoyed by members and their families. The only fireworks in the vicinity of the city will be held there
during the evening.

The same tournament starts at 9 and the semi-finals in both singles
and doubles will be at 1 p. m. Dancing and the fireworks display will be held in the evening.

The gunshoot at the club will start at 9 a. m. Arrangements have been made to accommodate a large number of trapshooters on the course, this annual event being one of great interest.

The annual flag tournament will be held all day at the Salem golf club.

Courts at Park Excellent
The tennis courts at Centennial
park will probably prove popular.
In excellent shape. Many tennis fans expect to spend Fourth in that fashion at the park.

Lake Placid, Meyers Lake park,
Cass, Cascade park, New Castle,
Knox park, Leonaia, Craig Beach,
Lake Milton, Idara park, Youngs-
dale, Lake Brady and Westville
lake all have their July 4 programs
arranged and expect record-breaking crowds.

The Salem baseball nine, Schafer
Billings, will remain idle over the Fourth.

Mayor Phil G. Hiddleston said today that the city ordinance placing
a ban on the selling or shooting of fireworks in the city limits is being observed.

Some noise will probably be heard
in the city, but nothing like the
thundering noises of other years,
the brilliant display of roman candies and other lights. Tomorrow
should be extraordinarily quiet
here.

GRAY ABANDONS

Asks Time to Devote To Probate Court Campaign
Says School Chief

Gray of Salem, assistant
superintendent of schools,
announced his withdrawal as candidate for probate judge. Lack of time to devote to his campaign
was the reason.

Romance Ends

Jeanne Eagles, actress of note
and star of "Rain," has filed

ASK ALEXANDER
SPEAKING TOUR
OVER COUNTRY

Many Requests Made For Smith's Appearance
Being Considered

New York, July 3.—Governor
Smith and his advisers today were considering appeals from all parts of the country for an extension of his campaign schedule, which at present lists only 12 speeches, to be delivered in important cities representing all sections of the union.

Many of his admirers feel that a
more intensive campaign, with numerous public appearances, would be
of invaluable aid in spreading
knowledge of the Smith personality.

Such a program, they say, would greatly increase the chances for a Democratic victory.

They are expecting also that the governor's acceptance speech to be made in August when he is formally notified of his nomination for president, will win over many doubtful
dry.

"I will make my position perfectly clear in my speech of acceptance," Governor Smith said in his suite at the Biltmore, refusing
further comment on the prohibition
question.

Today was to be another day of
rest for him, save for conferences
with his personal advisers and some of the Democratic leaders.

Tomorrow, however, the governor
makes two public appearances.

In old Tammany hall, scene of so many important events in municipal history, he will make an address at the hundred and thirty-ninth annual Independence Day celebration
of the organization. This is the last Fourth of July ceremony to be held
there before the old quarters are abandoned.

The governor will speak on patriotism and liberty, avoiding campaign matters.

HOOVER WORKS ON NEW BUDGET

Brown Assists Him Today
As Nominee Deserts
Politics For Time

Washington, July 3.—Herbert Hoover deserted politics momentarily today to draw up the commerce
department's new budget.

He was assisted by Walter F.
Brown of Toledo, assistant commerce secretary, who, according to persistent reports, will succeed
Hoover in the cabinet.

Hoover's acceptance speech has been completed in rough draft. He will want to consult with a number
of political advisers before he completes it.

The Republican national headquarters in the Barr building, from which the Hoover-Curtis campaign
will be conducted, are the most elaborate ever set up for a presidential campaign. There are 40 rooms and offices which occupy the entire fourth floor. Work of moving into the new offices is practically completed.

Youth Drowned
Cleveland, July 3.—While swimming at Edgewater Park bathing beach here, Edward Simon, 13, of Lorain, O., stepped into a "sand
shift" caused by recent storms, and was drowned late Monday. He had been spending his vacation here
with an uncle.

SEVEN CHANGE
PLEAS AND GET JAIL SENTENCES

Six Men and One Woman
From Salem Permitted
To Plead Guilty

APPOINT COUNSEL FOR FIVE OTHERS

Fourteen Cases Remain
On Docket; One Man Is Brought to Clinic

Without standing trial, six men
and one woman who were indicted
by the special June grand jury, and who entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned before Judge W. F.
Lones last Friday, went before the court Monday afternoon, changed
pleas to guilty of lesser crimes
than those on which they had been indicted, and their cases were disposed of.

William Grich, of Salem, indicted
for assault with intent to kill,
entered a plea of guilty to assault
and battery and was fined $25 and
costs. He was committed to the county jail until the fine and costs
are paid.

Clevis V. Patterson, Edward Haz-
lett and Ruth Hazlett, Salem, indicted for larceny, entered a plea
of guilty to petit larceny, and each
was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and to pay the costs in the case.

Counsel Appointed
The court has appointed Attorney
DeVere Grapp of Leontina to defend Fred Dixon, Charles Murphy
and Elie Johnson of Salem, indicted for burglary. The trio entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned.

Attorney James McSweeney of East Liverpool has been appointed to defend Duwayne Kilmer indicted for operating a motor vehicle
without the consent of the owner.

Fred Kenny of Salem, indicted
for assault with intent to kill,
changed his plea to guilty of assault
and battery and was fined $25 and
costs and committed to the county jail until fine and costs are paid.

30 Days For Theft
The case of Harry Martin of East Liverpool, indicted for burglary and larceny will be defended
by Attorney S. W. Crawford of East Liverpool, the court making the appointment.

C. R. Smith and Joseph Bielicki,
Salem, indicted for larceny of hides,
entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and each was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

William McClain, of Wellsville,
against whom two indictments were returned has been transferred from the county jail to the Central Clinic
hospital here. His physical condition is such that he could not be given proper treatment while confined in his cell at the county jail.

Only 14 cases remain to be disposed of, and it may be that final
entries will be made in these cases
during the next two weeks.

WORK PREDICTS
S' MAJORITY

National Campaign Chief Says Hoover Is Sure
Of Good Margin

Chicago, July 3.—"A safe majority for Herbert Hoover which will make him the next president of the United States."

That was the prophecy ventured
here today by Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, came from the summer
White House at Brule where he conferred with President Coolidge
and handed in his resignation as Secretary of the Interior.

Work offered that prediction after conferring with a number of middle western leaders. The report submitted to the committee was: Quaker

WARSHIP WILL BE TOTAL LOSS

Halifax, N. S., July 3.—The British cruiser Amethyst, which struck
on Thompson's shoals eight miles
off Halifax late yesterday, probably will be a total loss, according
to crews of lifeboats returning early
today from the shoals.

The ship struck in a dense fog
and was held fast amidships, with rocks piercing her hull. Her compartments soon filled with water.

The combined efforts of five tug-
boats and the rising tide failed to float
the ship. If a storm comes up,
mariners fear she will be swept off
into deep water, as she is exposed to the open sea.

Another Victim In N. York Gang War

New York, July 3.—The gang war
which has hit New York claimed another victim today. The body of a well-dressed man, about 28, was found in a vacant lot in Brooklyn.

The man's head had been nearly blown off by a shotgun charge and
the chest was riddled with bullets.
It was apparent police said, that
the man had been "taken for a ride."

Teachers Protest
Orders to Marry
Male Instructors

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 3.—
Women school teachers throughout Yugoslavia are holding mass
meetings to protest against a
bill introduced in parliament
compelling feminine teachers to marry men teachers, if they marry at all.

Sponsors of the bill assert
that girl teachers who marry
men belonging to another
"class"—especially to a "lower
class"—become estranged from their profession.

At a meeting held here women
teachers adopted a resolution
protesting against "the terrorism threatening the freedom
of marriage and the right to fall
in love." Speakers declared that,
if the government wants them
to marry men teachers, it should
employ men like Douglas Fairbanks
or John Barrymore, who are not only handsome, but have the reputation of being able to make love in a big way.

Edward Thomas Seederly, 28, well known young Salem man, died suddenly of a heart attack about 7 p.
m. Monday at his home, 105 Franklin ave.

Mr. Seederly was alone at the time of his death, which occurred
in the bathroom, and was found by his father at 9 o'clock when he came home to retire for the evening.

Edward Seederly, son of Edward
and Anna Murray Seederly was born
and reared in Salem. He graduated from Salem High school, class of 1917. Later he joined the Students
Army Training corps at Ohio State university, Columbus. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, Salem lodge No. 305, B. P. O.
Elks, and American Legion. He was employed by the Mullins Manufacturing corporation.

Surviving are his father; his step-
mother, Mrs. Edward Rice Seederly,
one sister, Mrs. Richard J. Cay-naugh, Johnstown, Pa., and one brother, James S. Seederly.

The funeral at 9 a. m. Thursday
will be at St. Paul's Catholic church, McKinley ave.; interment in Grandview Burial park.

Report Deficit In Athletic Treasury

A large deficit was reported last night at the board of education
meeting in the fund of the Salem
High school athletic association. It is the first time in years that the fund showed a deficit at the end of the school year. The report submitted showed a deficit of $363.23.

Other reports submitted were:

ance; Class of 1928 $16.15; H-Y

DEPUTY SAYS GERMAN MONARCHISM IS DEAD

Berlin, July 3.—A political sensation was caused in Germany today
by an article written for a Nationalist magazine by Nationalist Reichstag Deputy Walter Lambach, who declared that the election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as president of the German republic "dug
the grave for German monarchism."

The monarchist section of the population who voted for Von Hindenburg "helped dig his grave," the writer said. He added:

"Kings and Kaisers are no longer
hallowed and venerable persons and institutions to our growing youth
and future voters. To our growing youth they have become fit only for
the stage and the film."

The sensation was heightened by
the fact that restoration of the monarchy is the first principle of the Nationalist party.

Lambach demands that the Nationalist abandon their monarchist
principles and accept conservative Republicans into membership.

"Kruessing," the official organ
of Court Westarp, leader of the Nationalist party, regrets that the fundamental principles of the party

Believe Munster Beaten

Lose All Chances

Detroit, July 3.—The French balloon "Blanchard" with Charles Dol-
fus, pilot, and Georges Cornier,
aide, in the basket, has won this year's Gordon Bennett balloon race,
it is believed.

The "Blanchard" landed at Walnut Cove, N. C., approximately 475 airline miles from Detroit. This is 15 miles farther than the distance
traveled by the army balloon piloted
by Capt. W. E. Kepner. However,
race officials will await an official calibration, before announcing the winner.

All of the 12 racing balloons
which left Ford Airport Saturday
are reported down. The German bag "Munster," last of the bags to report, made a landing in the vicinity of Lynchburg, Va., according to unofficial word received here.

U. S. Bag Comes Down
Meanwhile race officials have asked Charles Schory, of the National Aeronautical association, in Washington, D. C., to rule on the legality of the landing made by the Blanchard. Dolfus and Cornier landed in a mill pond and then rowed to shore in a collapsible rubber boat.

The United States hope of retaining the cup was lost when the army bag, piloted by Capt. W. E.
Kepner, landed near Kendrick, Va.,
at noon yesterday. Kepner was the winner of the national elimination race from Pittsburgh, May 30.

Land In Little Hamlet
Walnut Cove, N. C., July 3.—
Hopeful that they have won the Gordon Bennett international balloon race, Charles Dolfus, pilot and George Cornier, aide, of the French
entry Blanchard, prepared today to leave this little hamlet.

The balloons landed here yesterday after taking off from Detroit.

The balloonists were confident
that they had won the race, although the German bag, Munster,
has not yet reported, according to information here.

LAVA CREEPING TOWARD VILLAGE

Manila, July 3.—The town of Li-
bog, at the base of Mount Apo, appeared to be doomed today as the flow of lava slowly crept toward it, obliterating vegetation in its wake.

Only one inhabitant remains in the town, a priest who is standing
guard over the village church.

Looting has broken out in the deserted villages at the foot of the mountain. Nattie gangs, armed with bolos, are breaking into houses and
stores, according to word received
here.

Two cases of cholera have been reported from refugee camps.

Governor General Stimson acted today to unify relief measures. He has asked that a destroyer be held
in readiness to go to the devastated
area. The coastguard cutter Polillo has already cleared from here with a load of rice.

NEW NAZARENE
MINISTER HERE

Rev. Samuel Young, of Cleveland,
has accepted the pastorate of the Nazarene church, East Green st., and will be here for a service Thursday evening at this church.

The new district superintendent,
Rev. W. C. Jones, of Cleveland, will also be at this service and both men
will speak. The public is invited.

South Carolina To

Columbia, S. C., July 3.—Expressing belief that the anti-Smith forces
are so much in the minority in the south that they will not attempt to organize, Roach S. Stewart, of Lancaster, state Democratic chairman,
declared today he would support the
New York governor for president.

"While the South Carolina delegation did not support Smith in the convention, he was clearly the choice of all the delegates to the convention," Stewart said.

Stewart was a delegate-at-large.

ARREST PEDDLER
OF SHORT WEIGHT
PRODUCTS HERE

Mayor Issues Warning As Youngstown Man Is Held by Police

A warning was issued to the public today by Mayor Phil G. Hiddle-ston to "beware of peddlers of produce" giving short measure and to demand that the products for sale
are the measure claimed by the peddler, following the arrest of Community Shaffer, Youngstown produce
peddler on charges of giving short
measure and using an unsealed
measure.

Shaffer was arrested on complaints filed with police stating that he was selling potatoes at a high
price and giving short measure.

Patrolmen William Reardon and Ralph Stoffer were placed on his trail and when Shaffer made a
sale of a half peck potatoes, the potatoes were confiscated and the man
brought before Hiddleston.

Investigation by W. H. Barr, county
deputy sealer of weights and measures, showed the alleged peck
to weigh only 24 pounds. This is two pounds short of a true peck.

Shaffer, with two other peddlers canvassed the city in the last 10
days with their produce. On several occasions, when asked to weigh
the peck of potatoes, they refused,
and drove on, creating suspicion
that they were selling short weight.

He posted a forfeit of $18 for his appearance at 10 a. m. today, but failed to appear. Chief of Police
T. W. Thompson made out warrants
for his apprehension on the two charges.

Hiddleston said, "the public should beware of these peddlers. This man was selling produce much higher than it can be purchased at local stores, and was giving short weight.
The public should ascertain whether
the peddlers are selling by bona fide scales, and should force the men to weight their products."

The penalty of selling by short measure is a fine of not more than $500, no minimum being provided;
the penalty for selling without using
a sealed measure is a minimum fine
of $100 and a maximum of $500,
with possible imprisonment on both
charges.

HIS THE WILL TO CONQUER

Franklin D. Roosevelt first came into national political recognition as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee on the ticket headed by James M. Cox. But at that time he was looked upon merely as a rich man—a political dilettante. In New York Democratic circles he was more or less widely known. Elsewhere throughout the country he was a political nonentity, albeit he once was assistant secretary of the navy.

Today, however, everybody knows Franklin D. Roosevelt—and either admires him, if one is a Democrat, or respects him, if one's political affiliations are other than Democratic. Franklin D. Roosevelt has proven to the country that his is the will to win.

Stricken with infantile paralysis at the height of his career, his life was threatened by his dread malady. Yet Mr. Roosevelt looked death courageously in the face, and fought it off. He battled valiantly against the disease which was sapping his vitality, and so far recovered that he was one of the outstanding figures at the memorable New York City convention of 1924, when John W. Davis was nominated.

It was Franklin D. Roosevelt who nominated Al Smith at New York four years ago. And it was Franklin D. Roosevelt who nominated Al Smith at the Democratic convention eight years ago.

The first nomination of Mr. Smith found Roosevelt a young and vigorous man, full of his love for Smith and fired with the zeal of this love. The second nomination of Mr. Smith found Roosevelt unable to leave his wheel chair, yet he espoused the Smith cause with the same vigor that characterized his maiden speech as a presidential candidate's sponsor.

And at Houston the other evening, Mr. Roosevelt, now able to get about without the aid of a wheel chair, nevertheless leaned on a cane with one hand and the strong arm of his son with the other, while he vigorously proclaimed to the delegates of Democracy that Al Smith was the only candidate before them who stood a ghost of a chance at the polls in November.

Mr. Roosevelt is going to be a big man in Democratic circles in the next four years. The indomitable spirit, which forced Mr. Roosevelt to carry on despite his ailment—the spirit de corps he instills in the Democratic hosts whenever he appears before them—prove conclusively that here is a man whom it will be hard to down—that a mind is able to force a body to throw off such a malady as had stricken him, is a mind that thinks clearly and conclusively.

And a mind like this, reinforced by the Roosevelt will and spirit never to give up, is something to be admired, regardless of political preference or other affiliations.

What Others Say

THE VOTE IN NOVEMBER

There is going to be an election next November. This is not stated as a matter of news. It is pretty generally known throughout the country, and recent reports from Kansas City and present reports from Houston indicate that preparations for it are well under way. Nevertheless, when the time comes for that election, there will be a lot of people who either know nothing about it, who do not care enough about it to vote, or who for some other reason do not vote. In 1924 there were, it is estimated 56,819,000 eligible citizens of voting age, but only 29,081,417 votes were cast for president in that election. What was the matter with the 27,738,000 citizens who did not vote? Was it because they did not know an election was to be held, or because they were not interested enough to go to the polls? It is hardly probable that many had not heard about the election. It is difficult indeed to believe that any one was not aware of it.

Was it then wholly because of indifference? We do not think so. Indifference is a very potent negative influence in our elections but it is not the only cause of the failure of such a vast number to exercise the franchise. Unquestionably the greatest reason for the decline of the relative number of voters is the granting of the franchise to women. In 1916, when only men were eligible to vote, the percentage of voters at the national election was over 72 and in the ten preceding quadrennial elections the average had been over 75 per cent. But in 1920 the women were admitted to the franchise, which doubled the total number of eligible voters and the percentage of voters that year dropped to 49. In 1924 the percentage was 51. There is little doubt that the male vote in 1920 and 1924 was relatively nearly as great as in 1916. There has been, it is true, a decline in the relative male vote in the past 40 years but only once has the percentage of votes to citizens of eligible voting age gone below 67. That was in 1912 when many citizens refrained from voting but not because of indifference.

In 1920 and 1924 the franchise was new to women. They were not accustomed to voting, had paid comparatively little attention to politics, and it was no easy matter to acquire either knowledge or interest. Millions of them were too timid to thrust themselves into the strange surroundings of the polling places and other millions were opposed to women taking part in elections. While women are gradually overcoming these objections there is a very large proportion of them who still remain aloof, and it will probably be a long time before they take as general an interest in elections and vote in relatively equal numbers as the men. There is no question, however, that their interest and their participation are increasing rapidly, stimulated by the activities of their own sex, by the growth of newspaper reading among them and the pervasive influence of the radio.

Another influence in holding down the percentage of votes in relation to voting age is the restrictions upon the colored vote in the south. Because of this, and because of the fact that elections in the south are practically settled at the Democratic party primaries, the average of votes in the southern states is far below the average in other states and this serves to reduce the percentage of the whole. For example, even the women voting in 1924 the percentages of voters to eligibles in North Central states was 64, while that in the South Central was only 27. The average for Missouri, which stands eleventh in the ranks of percentage in 1920 and 1924, was 66, which is not so bad. While it is true that we need to struggle unceasingly against indifference, the situation is not as dangerous as some have painted, and there is reason to believe that the coming election will see a larger vote polled and a larger percentage of voters than in 1920 or 1924. It will be a closely-contested election, with many features to arouse public interest, and its issues and personalities will appeal in an unusual degree to the women voters.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator From New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City. Now the Fourth of July is here. This is the boys' day. It is a day of noise. It is the day of fire-crackers and cannon.

Unfortunately, the Fourth of July is not only a day of natural rejoicing and glorification, but it is a day of explosions, powder burns and endless accidents.

The day after the Fourth used to be one day of the year when the newspapers were filled with reports of death and injury from accidental causes. Since the advent of the automobile every Monday is record day for such reports. We have too many "S" drivers—persons who buy cars on Saturday and drive them for the first time on Sunday. The highways are crowded, recklessness prevails and accidents are the natural result.

A clean wound is never particularly serious. A wound into which dirt has been carried is always a thing to be dreaded. It is particularly dangerous if the dirt is the filth of the street or the filth of the stable or barnyard.

This is because such dirt may carry the germs of tetanus or lockjaw. The germ is carried in the intestines of horses and cattle, so any soil contaminated by the excretions of animals may be infected with this agent.

Lockjaw is a very serious and even fatal disease. The agony of the sufferer is terrible to behold. I can hardly bear to think of the sufferings of a friend and patient of mine who died of tetanus. Though years have passed, I shudder when memory recalls the scene.

I am glad that science has found a way since then of dealing with lockjaw. An antitoxin has been discovered, which counteracts the effects of the poison. In the war it was used systematically in all dirt-inflicted wounds.

Should an accident occur on Fourth of July or any other time, so that street or stable dirt is ground into the tissues, go at once to your doctor and take his advice about treatment. For some reason the palms of the hands appear to be particularly susceptible to this form of infection. Wounds of this region require special care.

Every board of health and most drug stores carry the antitoxin in stock. Bear this in mind.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, July 4.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

ACCORDING to the rule of the stars this day is not to be read as one of great importance from a constructive standpoint. While the tendency to the pursuit of pleasure is uppermost, yet this is attended by the menace of excessive indulgence, extravagance with pastimes or investments in the nature of gambling. Also there may be some conditions complicated by subtle duplicity. It is urged that discretion and circumspection be exercised generally.

Those whose birthday it is are of the eve of a great calling for discretion and wise counsel in all their affairs, personal and business. Speculation should be shunned and duplicity and underhanded methods avoided. A child born on this day may be best fitted to rule its destiny by a very pure education along the lines of thrift, integrity and straightforwardness. With respect to calm judgment it may make a success of its life.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, July 5.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

A DAY of activity and enterprise is shown by the interesting conjunction of stellar operations, but withal there is much of conflict and hazard. The energies may be under high stimulus, but tumult and impetuosity may put in jeopardy the result of the most diligent and long-sustained effort. Although invention, science and unusual projects should thrive, yet the speculative tendency may negative results. However, despondency or discouragement may not mend matters, watchmen should.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by an interesting year, with much opportunity for success, in possibly unusual directions. If they will check turbulence and impetuosity as well as an inclination to speculation and risk, a child born on this day may be clever and ingenious as well as industrious, but its energies may be jeopardized by a propensity to overconfidence and rash and tempestuous moves and actions.

Especially whether public or private, means the wise management of talent.—Euphros.

Everybody should know something about first aid. Every home, shop and factory should be equipped with the simple remedies and dressings. Never take a chance about injuries. Attend to them early and avoid evil consequences.

Fortunately, our powers of resistance are usually pretty high and we throw off the effects of ordinary infections. Good health is a great protector. It pays us to keep well and strong, because this condition is life and health insurance of the very best sort.

Answers to Health Queries

D. P. G. Q.—Last summer my nose was broken by a baseball and was not properly attended to. Who shall I see to have it set?

A.—Consult your doctor and he will advise you.

H. T. Q.—What do you advise for a six-year-old child who has terrible nightmares?

A.—Nightmares are usually due to deranged digestion in a neurotic child, but may also be due to over fatigue, overwork at school and anxiety about school duties. Adenoids, enlarged tonsils or worms may be the cause, as are also indulgences in unusual articles of diet, or eating too heavy a meal before retiring. For full particulars send a self addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

P. D. Q.—What can be done for a finger which has been burned and although healed is parched and tender and very sensitive at times?

A.—What can be done for a persistent crack in the upper lip which does not seem to want to heal?

A.—I would advise having your doctor look at the finger and suggest the further treatment necessary. It would be difficult to prescribe without examination.

2.—Apply a good cold cream daily and avoid moistening the lips while out of doors.

High Aspirations

Robert Louis Stevenson, while living at Skerryvore, had the idea of adopting a boy in whom he was interested, as his "body servant," and giving him such education as he could assimilate. Before doing so, relates R. L. S.'s great friend, dear little old Miss Adelaide Hoodie, he put it to the boy point blank whether any other walk in life held for him more powerful attraction. The answer came without a moment's hesitation:

"These, sir, I wish I could be Mr. Townsend's boy."

Mr. Townsend was the local fish-monger.

CABLE BIG FUND FOR RELIEF OF CHINESE FAMINE

$50,000 Sent By Group; John E. Baker Aids Its Distribution

New York, July 3.—Relief for the famine stricken area of China is being conducted by the China Famine Relief organization which recently cabled $50,000 to the famine sufferers to be administered by the China International Famine Relief Commission.

Another $50,000 is available, which, together with contributions coming daily, will swell the total of American gifts to be cabled across the Pacific to more than $100,000, it was announced.

John E. Baker, advisor on railway administration to the Chinese Ministry of Communications from 1916 to 1926, is enroute to China to facilitate co-operation with the Nationalist government, now in control of the famine district.

Baker will make investigations along several major lines to determine the most acute needs of the famine victims, and the most practical methods for administering relief.

Will Provide Work

The provision of work for able bodied men as a result of a projected drainage canal just north of the famine area, from a point near Hsian to the sea, will occupy his immediate attention.

Another drainage project, calculated to prevent floods and thus save crops is known as the Hwai river drainage plan, and would protect the territory immediately contiguous to Southern Shantung.

Still another famine preventative measure which may be given consideration involves extensive dyke repairs along the Yellow river, which in overflowing or breaking through old dykes, has been responsible for the destruction of crops over large areas.

Baker will also investigate the condition of the orphaned and abandoned children in the famine region. One report during the famine said of 6,000 of these gathered by relief agencies at Tsinan. Other reports indicate that considerable numbers are in the territory contiguous to other cities, such as Tsehow and Taitan.

In addition to his railway administrative work for the Chinese government, Baker acted as director of operations during the application of famine relief in Northern China in 1920-1921, and for his achievements in that connection and as advisor to the Chinese delegation at the Limitation of Arms conference he was decorated with the Order of The Beautiful Harvest, a decoration rarely conferred on foreigners.

Recurrence of Suffering

The recurrence this year of the famine suffering, exceeding in some sections the severity of the famine eight years ago, brought about the release of Baker from Peking university in order that he might become general secretary of the National Committee, China Famine Relief. Recently he has been busy occupied in his new duties. He spent several weeks in New York and has travelled across the country, making addresses in behalf of relief for the Chinese sufferers.

Dr. S. Parks Cadman, of Brooklyn, chairman of the China Famine Relief National committee, in hastening Baker's departure for China, said:

"Generous giving right now for the famine sufferers in China is urgently important. Such giving not only reveals the true heart of the American people when terrible human need calls for help, but will assure that great people across the sea that humanity is one."

Mummies of Kings Hidden From Public

Cairo, July 3.—The dignity of Egypt's ancient kings will henceforth be taken into consideration by the Cairo authorities.

Orders have been given for all the mummies of the kings of pre-dynastic Egypt to be placed in a special room at the Cairo Museum, to which admission will be reserved exclusively for Egyptologists and persons specially authorized by the authorities.

Recently, the tomb of Amenophis the second in the Valley of the Kings, which contains the exposed remains of this Pharaoh, will be closed to the public.

The order follows the recommendations of the commission which was set up to consider the mummies. The proposal that all the mummies be replaced in their tombs, and their exposition "in glass cases served no scientific purpose, but simply gratifies the public curiosity and is not in keeping with the dignity of the ancient kings."

Norwegian Farmers Flock To America

Oslo, July 3.—Emigration to the United States is largely responsible for the difficulties Norwegian farmers generally experience in cultivating their soil.

Because large numbers of young Norwegians couldn't resist the lure of "God's own country" Norwegian agriculture is now suffering from a serious shortage of experienced farm-hands which may even fatally influence this year's harvest.

CHEMISTS PLAN WAR GAS SHOW

Part of Program for Institute Will Be Plane Exhibit Over Lake

Chicago, July 3.—Airplanes over Lake Michigan laying down smoke screens and going through various other maneuvers of chemical warfare in the air will be a part of the program of the Institute of Chemistry of the American Chemical Society which will meet at Northwestern university from July 23 to August 18.

The last day of the institute will be devoted to chemistry in war, and at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon of August 18, residents of Chicago and the North Shore will have an opportunity of seeing an actual demonstration of the part chemistry plays in war. These demonstrations will be arranged in such a way as to be perfectly safe, it is promised, but at the same time spectacular.

Many widely known lectures on various phases of chemical warfare have been obtained by the institute. One of these is Dr. W. Lee Lewis, director of research of the institute of American packers and former head of the department of chemistry at Northwestern University.

In War Service

During the war Dr. Lewis was in the chemical warfare service. His most important achievement was the direction of the group of scientists which was responsible for the development of lewisite, the one toxic material developed during the war which was more deadly than mustard gas.

Following is a list of the other speakers with the subjects of their talks.

H. Edmund Bullis, executive secretary of the National Association for Chemical Defense, "The Reaction of the General Public to the use of Gas in Warfare."

Other Speakers

Col. Harry L. Gilchrist of the United States army, "Present Problems of Chemical Defense." Byron C. Goss of the Lake Erie Chemical company, "Peace Time Uses of Chemical Warfare."

Dr. J. E. Mills, director of research of the Chemical Warfare Service, Edgewood Arsenal, "Present Problems of Chemical Defense."

Major General Paul B. Malone, commanding general of the Sixth Corps Area, will speak on "National Preparedness."

Vagabond Children In Russia Go North During Hot Months

Moscow, July 3.—Homeless children, following the warm weather north, are receiving a cool reception at the hand of the Moscow police. Authorities are determined to keep the streets free of urchins who rob fruit stands, snatch pocket books and pilfer food from market baskets, and incidentally make an extremely bad impression on summer tourists.

As fast as they make their appearance, the police round them up, place them in children's homes or send them back to the villages from which they came. Recently more than 200 were arrested, most of them whom had documentary evidence to show that local soviets unable to cope with the problem of their maintenance had shipped them to Moscow and passed the buck to the higher authorities in the capital. A sharp reprimand to village authorities accompanied the boys on their return trip.

Special police have been detailed to railway stations to pick up the urchins as they came through after riding the blinds to the city. Most of them are boys 15 or 16 years old who know no trade except stealing, at which they are extremely skillful, and who escape from institutions whenever attempts are made to confine them.

DRUMMING IS DANGEROUS JOB; BAD FOR THUMB

That Report to League of Nations Labor Office; Hit Jazz Playing

Geneva, July 3.—Jazz drumming is a dangerous occupation, according to recent reports of the International Labor Office of the League of Nations which has been inquiring into the matter.

A special investigation shows that "a neurosis characterized by pain and cramp and a sensation of fatigue and constriction localized in the right knee has been reported in players on the triangle and drums which are set in motion by a pedal."

"Each blow, it was calculated, required an effort of 5 to 12 kilograms, and the artists had to give 108 blows per minute. Von Wurthénau has assembled 62 cases of paralysis among drummers affecting the extension of the distal phalanx of the left thumb."

Chronic tenosynovitis is also said to be a fairly frequent consequence of the way in which the drum sticks are held, setting up mechanical irritation of the tendon of the long extensor of the thumb, and even rupture at the tendon at the moment of the paroxysm of rolling.

Another discovery the labor office made was that chorus girls and theatrical artists who daily use large quantities of "make-up" in the course of their professions very frequently contract lead poisoning, because so many forms of grease paint have a white-lead basis.

The report warns that actors and actresses who wear wigs that have been used by others are in great danger of baldness and tells of one case where an actress lost all her hair from this cause.

Other diseases which have a high rate of prevalence in stage circles are anaemia, digestive troubles, eyestrain and varicose veins. Dancers very frequently suffer from eye troubles caused by dancing in the rays of the limelight. Dilatation of the heart frequently afflicts players of trombones, saxophones and other wind instruments used in these jazz days.

Autos are going to sprout wings and solve the problem of traffic jams in the near future, according to a French inventor, Jean de-Chapdelaine who has recently produced a little "flying Lizzie," an airplane without wings—in a word the "gyropter."

It has a closed torpedo body and four free wheels. The motor power is supplied by two rotors affixed to the sides like paddle-wheels of a ferry boat. They whirl at the rate of 7000 revolutions per minute, a speed which assures the stability of the machine. In case of an accident in the air, the rotation of the wheels keeps the machine from falling swiftly. In fact, the inventor says one will alight so softly as any feather.

When automobiles pile up on all sides and there seems to be no way out of the mess, Presto! throw the gears into reverse and take to the air—advises Monsieur Chapdelaine. In the very near future, this will be the only way out of traffic trouble.

He says that when the model is complete it will attain a speed of 300 miles in the air and 150 miles on terra firma.

Advertisements bring you useful news

ONLY yesterday, it seems, we read of balloon tires, radio, electric ranges. Today they count as necessities and magic newcomers are knocking at our doorways — electric refrigeration — the oil-burning furnace — a phonograph that changes its own records.

Even as you read these lines, men in Chicago and Atlanta, Philadelphia and Detroit, are patiently putting together strange devices that, tomorrow, will save labor, cut costs, or give pleasure.

When these inventions become practical, advertisements will be the first to tell you about them: What they will do; how much they cost; where you can get them.

Advertisements bring you personal news, information about the material things that increase your health, comfort and happiness. They tell you the latest practical news phrased in words that are brief, understandable and honest. They help you save money and enjoy the best things in life.

Spend a few minutes each day reading the advertisements—they'll bring you much valuable news

"Well Dad, You've Won"

And when it was all settled—when the official count of that solitary ballot at Houston was announced by radio to a waiting nation—Mrs. John A. Warner, Governor Alfred E. Smith's daughter, threw her arms around her distinguished parent and congratulated him with a resounding smack.

are being made an issue, "because the party has more pressing cares at this moment."

Herr Lambach gave the following explanation of the change on the part of the German people.

"The shadow of the kaiser and king rising up behind the president would have overshadowed everything else, but it no longer overshadows a Hindenburg. On the contrary, William II disappeared behind the tall, pious old gentleman who now represents the reich. A functionary and a place-holder was to be elected, but a carrier of his own greatness became president. Before his greatness, the nimbus of the Hohenzollerns collapsed. How many millions of true monarchists have been turned into embittered Republicans by the second marriage of the kaiser and the marriage scandals in his family was shown at the national referendum on the proposed confiscation of the royal properties and in the last reichstag election."

Henry G. Brunner, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, who will extend a personal invitation to Gov. Smith to open the convention, indicated he expected Smith will accept the invitation as the switch of the Ohio delegates at the national convention at Houston assured the New York governor's nomination on the first ballot.

Should Gov. Smith accept the invitation, Brunner said, he will make no speeches other than at the Aug. 24 engagement on this visit but plans to come to Ohio for several speeches later in the campaign.

Brunner is making plans to attend the Democratic national committee meeting to be held in New York on Aug. 11.

INDEPENDENCE

A Declaration by Our Fore-Fathers
Which Has Become the Key to Modern Development

1776-1928, one hundred and fifty-two years since that venerable group of patriots signed the scroll which proclaimed the independence of our country, yet for one day of each year we pause in appreciation of all that brief declaration of rights has meant in the nation's progress. The spirit which prompted that declaration is the essence of the spirit which today governs our daily contact with both the business and political forces of the world.

We, as a store which serves the public need, wish to stand independent as an organization that constantly looks to the future with a background of American integrity.

1 DEAD, 40 HURT IN CAR CRASH

New York, July 3.—Julius Gould, 40, a butcher, is dead and 40 other persons are suffering today from injuries sustained when two trolley cars collided in Brooklyn.

One car leaped through a switch and shot around a corner at full speed into the second trolley.

Women and children were pulled from the wreckage by scores of rescuers. Martin Joyce, one of the motormen, was seriously injured. He was arrested.

TOSS DYNAMITE FROM MACHINE AT TWO HOMES

Athens, July 3.—Dynamite thrown from a moving motor car damaged two homes at Chauncey, 6 miles north of here today, according to county authorities who are investigating the blasts.

The first residence dynamited was that of Frank Schoonover, who with three members of the family were in the house. The charge fell short of the porch, injuring no one.

The second stick of dynamite was thrown at the home of Andrew Heading, damage was not great. None of the members of the Heading family were at home.

Schoonover is said to have been circulating petitions urging miners to go to work on the 1917 wage scale. Heading said that the attempt to blast his home was probably due to his non-union sympathies, according to the police.

Give Elsie Mackaye Fortune to England For Reducing Debt

London, July 3.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill announced in the house of commons this afternoon that the residue of the estate of the late Hon. Elsie Mackaye, amounting to $2,500,000, has been donated to the government by the girl's parents to be used in reducing the national debt.

The parents, Lord and Lady Incheape, said they wish this donation to stand in the memory of their daughter.

The Hon. Elsie Mackaye lost her life while trying to make a non-stop flight from England to America in an airplane piloted by Capt. Hinchcliffe. Her body was never found, nor any trace of the plane.

German Mercantile Fleet 75 Per Cent of Per-War Tonnage

Hamburg, Germany, July 3.—Germany's mercantile fleet has reached 75 per cent of its pre-war size, according to statistics compiled by the German Lloyd and made public today.

At the end of June there were 2,456 seagoing ships with a total of 3,838,000 gross register tons. This tonnage, however, made up but 5.8 per cent of the world's total, as against 11.3 per cent before the war.

Despite the steady growth of motor driven ships, steamship tonnage is still almost ten times as great as motor tonnage, amounting to 1,744 steamers with a total of 3,250,000 register tons.

This proportion, however, will undoubtedly change rapidly, for the Hamburg-American line, to mention but one company, now has 15 motorships with a total of 120,000 tons building.

The day of the sailing ships (without auxiliary motor) is rapidly passing. They account for but 38,600 tons of the total shipping.

Byng Named Chief Of Scotland Yard

London, July 3.—Viscount Byng, former governor general of Canada, who has just been appointed commissioner of the metropolitan police to succeed Sir William Horwood, will assume his duties as chief of Scotland Yard early in the autumn, probably September, it was stated today.

While there has been no official explanation of Sir William Horwood's retirement, it is understood that it resulted partly from arrests of persons in Hyde Park and the method employed by the police in applying the "third degree."

"Strong arm methods" of obtaining information from persons arrested on suspicion are not tolerated in England, as they are in some other countries.

Lima Police Chief Is July 4 Victim

Lima, July 3.—Chief of Police Willis Kipker, of Yima, believes in a safe and sane Fourth of July. He said so Sunday when he issued a call for a careful observance of Independence day.

Sunday night the chief felt the urge to hear a "big one" go off. "You gotta be careful with these things," he said as he gingerly applied a match to a cannon cracker.

The cannon cracker, evidently was much bigger than the fuse.

Chief Kipker appeared at police headquarters today with a sheepish grin and a painfully burned finger. Lima's first Independence day casualty.

The wife is in a precarious condition but the wounded daughter will recover.

AT THE STATE

A powerful dramatic story of a little spitfire on the banks of the Danube, who knew how to take care of herself in a world of men who desired her, is "The Whip Woman," a First National picture, which is at the State.

Estelle Taylor, who has not been seen on the screen since "Don Juan," is the girl who wields her whip so effectively in warding off those who would spoil her dream of love, while Antonio Moreno is unusually fine as the nobleman in disgrace with his family, who is rescued from ending his life, in the Danube by a blow on the head from the girl's whip, which eventually leads him to love her.

Heroic, romantic exploits of the bandit, Joaquin Murieta, early California's most dominant figure, supply the basis for Richard Dix' new Paramount picture "The Gay Defender" coming Wednesday.

Dix portrays the Mexican bandit, with lovely blonde Thelma Todd as his American heroine, and Fred Kohler "wolf of the screen" as the villain. Gregory La Cava directed this action-filled romance of the ranchos. "The Gay Defender" is an original story by Grover Jones. It was dramatized by Ray Harris, Sam Mintz and Kenneth Raisbeck.

AT THE GRAND

Tim McCoy, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film star, is starred in his most thrilling screen drama, "Riders of the Dark," which is at the Grand. The story is an original by W. S. Van Dyke and deals with the lawlessness of California frontier towns in the eighties. Dorothy Dwan has the featured feminine role.

In "Riders of the Dark" McCoy is a gambler and leader of a band of outlaws in a little frontier town, terrorizing peaceful citizens and responsible for the murder of an editor who exposed his villainies.

"The Big Noise," First National's Picture based on the story by Ben Hecht, is said to be the most gripping and colorful narrative of American journalism brought to the screen this season. It has been booked as the feature attraction for Wednesday.

The featured role in the production is played by Chester Conklin, who in this character as the result of a subway accident and the enterprise of a newspaper reporter, becomes the man of the hour. Sam Hardy is cast as the owner of a Coney Island concession and gives a notable performance. Alice White and Jack Egan also have important roles. Allan Dwan directed the production.

STYLE EDICTS

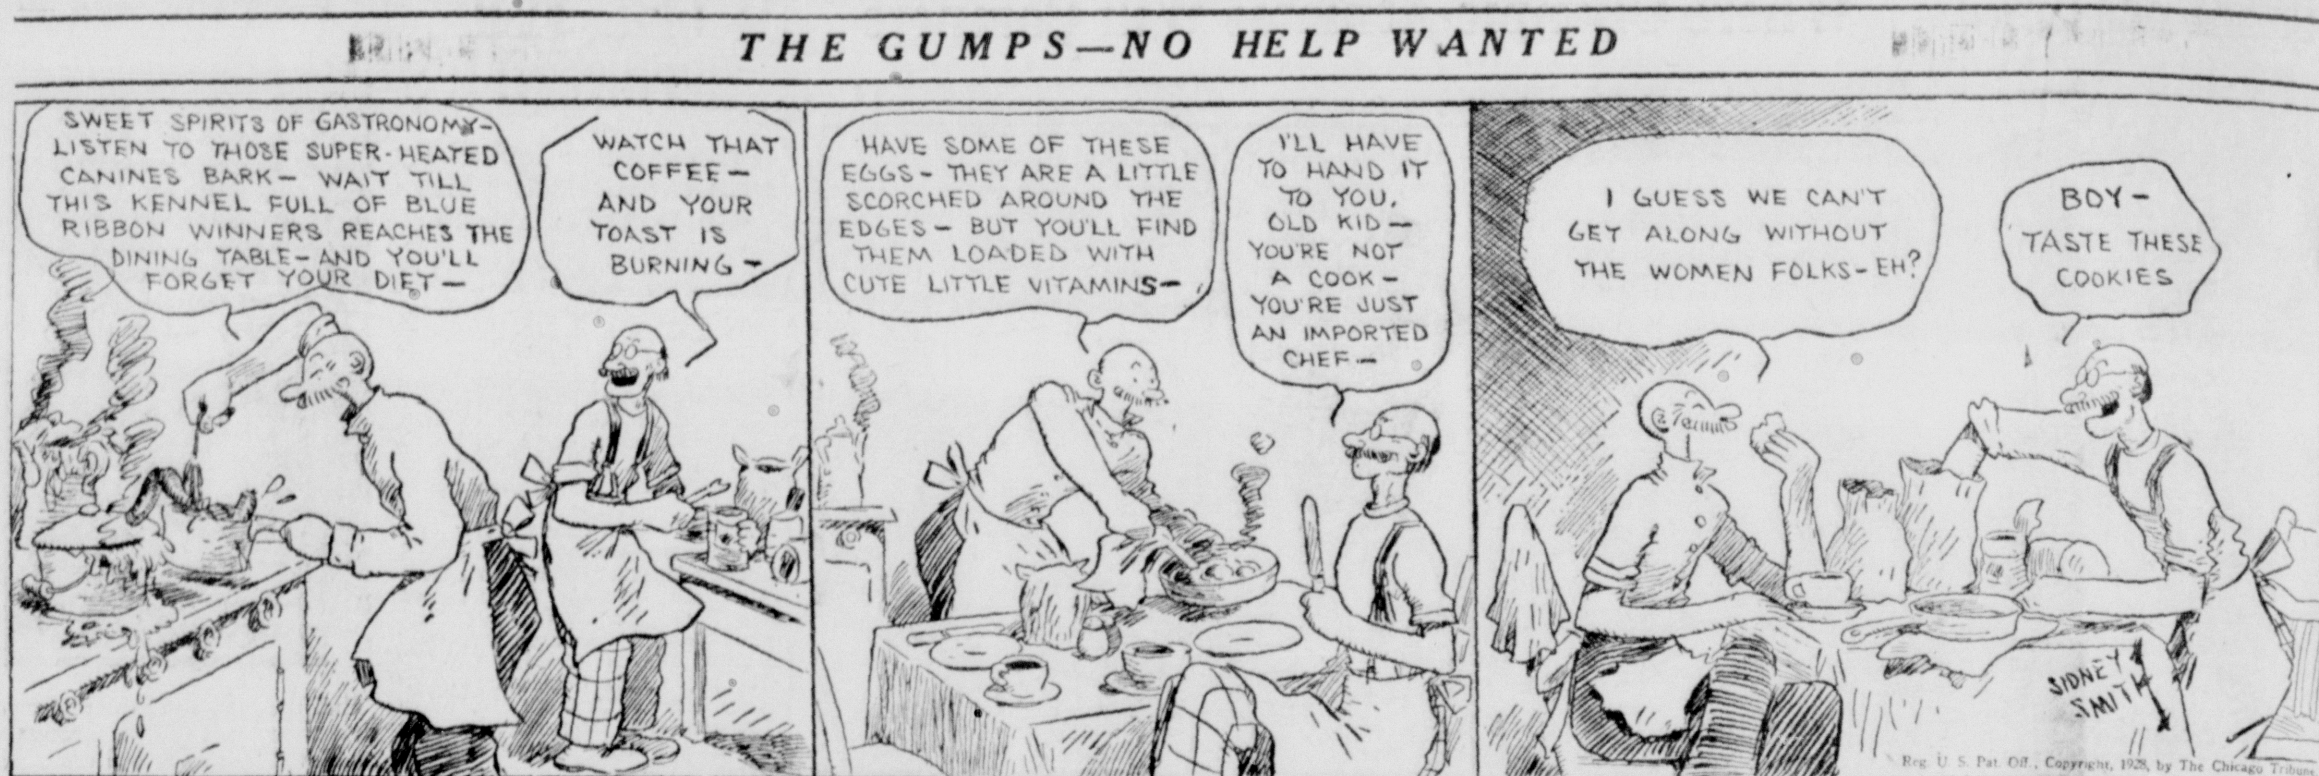

Paris, July 3.—The handkerchief which has certainly come into its own this season has its counterpart in a silk scarf to match which is used by some of the smart French milliners on small felt hats. Polka-dots, stripes or plaids are the favorite designs for these scarves with the background of the color of the handkerchief.

Many of the shops are displaying attractive squares for the neck with a smaller scarf to match for the hat. They come in lovely silks with beige or gray backgrounds and a plaid design in red, blue or green. And those who wish to carry the color scheme a bit further can find four-in-hand ties to match worn with the jumper blouses or mannish ones.

Instead of tying the popular silk neckerchief, one of the couturiers draws the pointed ends through a thick ring of jade, amber, corals or other colored stone.

Chains, bracelets and buckles of clear-cut crystal, which were in favor a year ago and then suddenly faded away, seem to have regained their former prestige and the smart shops are filled with jewelry of this type. The favorite necklace is no longer in the form of a dangle chain, but is short and lies flat about the neck. The latest design is in flat, triangular crystals, sometimes all white and sometimes white alternating with onyx. There are also necklaces of the same length in colored crystals, blue-green, red or tozaj with brooches, bracelets and buckles to match.

The vogue for black afternoon frocks has brought with it lovely turquoise and coral necklaces. There are good old-fashioned branch coral necklaces which look extremely well with black silk or satin gowns, as well as round beads in various sizes. Numerous antique shops have brought out their coral strings which are well aged and have a lovely deep red tone.

Vacation Days on the Porch

Many of us who have short vacations, if any at all, but who own porches may still spend our summers happily. It is an art to live out doors comfortably and hospitably, but one well worth learning. Meals in the open are a joy. If the porch is more or less exposed plant vines in boxes for a screen, or use the Chinese blinds during the meal if too close to the passerby. Convenient electric plugs make electric cookery possible right on table.

The new colored linens are charming for outdoor use, unless one finds the straw or oil cloth mats more economical. But all agree that the peasant pottery is the ideal summer porch tableware. Quite the latest addition is the Mexican pottery in the lovely soft Indian coloring, the odd shapes of pitchers and water bottles adding to their attractive appeal.

Porch furniture was never as varied or pleasing as it is today and the bamboo weaves painted, unpainted, or variously decorated, are found in many new and unfamiliar weaves. Here again Mexico sends us a contribution in an unusual bamboo chair covered with pigskin that is practical, durable and, best of all, weatherproof. Unfortunately, the stuff is rather expensive owing to the high duty that must be paid to allow it to cross the border.

All the way from Morocco the most fascinating cushions are coming to us and they are delightful for porch use. The cushions are large ottoman shapes in colored leather, corded with contrasting cords. The decorations are in dull gold motifs on the tops and sides of the cushions. The tomato shapes are of red Morocco leather, with green cording and a stem-like tassel completes the resemblance. Tops of some are rayed with several colored leathers fitted in segments, the points in the center covered with a huge flat button leather covered. The cushions are high enough to use for stool seats.

KENTUCKY KILLS SEVEN SLAYERS FRIDAY, JULY 13

Frankfort, Ky., July 3.—Friday, July 13, may go down in Kentucky history as a dark and bloody day. Unless executive clemency intervenes seven men will die between sunrise and sunset that day in the electric chair at the Eddyville state penitentiary in expiation of their crimes.

Little hope is held forth that the

TWO-PIECE COSTUMES

The costume consisting of an oversleeve and separate skirt is practical and attractive because it allows numerous fabric combinations and color contrasts. The blouse shown at the left has a hip band, which gives the popular swathed effect. Made of beige satin and worn with the circular skirt of black satin it is dressy enough for informal afternoon wear.

The same is true of the model at the right consisting of a trim blouse which ties at one side and a two-piece skirt. This may be shirred at the center-front to give a flared effect, or gathered across the entire front. Figured and plain flat crepe may be used.

First Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4149. Sizes 14 to 18 years, 34 to 44 bust, 35 cents. Skirt 4150. Sizes 14 to 18 years, 34 to 44 bust, 35 cents. Initial 12254, 30 cents.

Second Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4154. Sizes 14 to 18 years, 34 to 44 bust, 35 cents. Skirt 4152. Sizes 14 to 18 years, 34 to 44 bust, 35 cents.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Discusses Summer Evening Gowns.

I MODELED some lovely evening things for a customer yesterday—mostly printed chiffons, quite the favorite fabric for Summer gowns.

She finally selected a dress that was made of a luscious print—the background of Nile green upon which figured large flowers in two shades of rose with darker green leaves. It suited her beautifully since she was tall and slender enough to carry a large pattern.

Stouter women should be very careful in their selection of printed materials, if they must have them at all. The pattern must not be too large or over-weight will be emphasized. Also, they should be most particular about the cut and fullness of chiffon flounces which should be circular rather than gathered and should emphasize length and not fullness.

This particular model was young and summery looking. It had a rounded décolletage, the back of which was caught in with a chiffon trail that fell to the waistline and appeared to be the top tier of trails that cascaded from the low waistline. The all-around circular flounces of the skirt fell gracefully over a satin foundation.

The fact that most Summer evening frocks are being made according to this mode doesn't necessarily mean that they lack variety. On the contrary, there are numerous variations permissible within the mode, made possible by the manner of application of trails and skirt irregularities. These gresses may have their trailing length at one side or both, or at the back. They may have cascading arrangements of chiffon all round; handkerchief points may be fixed to

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from "sour stomachs." They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. Adv.

Happy Warrior's Running Mate

The Democratic national convention didn't waste any more time in selecting a nominee for the vice-presidency than it did in choosing a candidate for president. It voted overwhelmingly on the first ballot in favor of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, shown in the picture with Mrs. Robinson. The nominee is considered one of the strongest leaders in the Democratic party.

would be a utility as well as a memorial to the world aviators who lost their lives.

The proposed beacon would be situated on the top of historic old Table Rock, one of the land marks of this section. The rock is about 2500 feet above sea level. The light, it is believed, would act as a marker for night fliers for a distance of over 75 miles.

Table Rock is situated on the air route to Quebec that was taken by Col. Lindbergh in his race against death to bring serum to the bedside of Floyd Bennett in a Canadian hospital.

Havana, Cuba.—The Prado, Havana's famous promenade, is to get a complete new modern ornamental lighting system. Plans and estimates are now being drawn up for the work which will take in ten city blocks, starting from the Malecon, sea drive, to the just recently completed Fraternity park.

SHORT HAIR AND SKIRTS HELP TO KILL GALLANTRY

That's French Official's Opinion of Jazz Age; Bet On Convention

Paris, July 3.—Short hair, short skirts, and in general, woman's desire to be on a level with men in all walks of life, have killed old French gallantry, according to Fernand Laurent, well-known city councilor.

"Women have become so mannish," says Monsieur Laurent, "that the men no longer feel the need of respecting them as in the good old days. What is more, they don't demand it, except of course some of the older generation who do not understand the new ways."

"The world has grown to be a great arena in which everyone, men as well as women, are fighting for their own chances. One can't afford to be polite today. There is not time and there are too many little troubles to bother about without considering one's neighbor."

As in most everything else, the real cause goes back to the war—and women. Father was away at the front. Mother had her hands full trying to earn the butter and bread. As a consequence, the children were left to their own upbringing.

Jazz-bands, exaggerated sports and American movies also come in for their share of the blame for the disappearance of old-fashioned politeness which was formerly the monopoly of the French nation.

"Gene is the day when a young dancer politely conducted his fair partner to her place. A new mode has come in with the 'jazz-band dancing' and now every young girl must fight her way back," regrets Monsieur Laurent.

"Sport is all very well in its place but to make it so important to diminish mind, feeling and sentiment to a minus quantity and without these there can be no courtesy."

On Derby Day at Chantilly some of the professional bookmakers temporarily forsook the horse to lay bets against the various Republican runners at the late Kansas City convention.

With a fashionable and numerous American public on hand, takers were legion and business was brisk. The color of your political horse meant little or nothing to your French "bookie." Whether your favorite was the popular fancy or just one of the dark horses, the odds were about the same—even money or worse.

"These candidates are all Greek to me," as one prominent bookmaker explained it when interviewed. "But ze people come and ze people want to make zese funny bets. Qu'est que vous voulez? Me take 'em. Business is business."

Bookmaking in France is like liquor selling in the States—taboo, so there is no official record of how the books came out on their transactions.

The River Seine within the walls of Paris is now virtually off bounds for persons desiring to commit suicide.

The Paris prefecture recently put into operation a new police alarm system which it has now extended to the quayside.

When a passerby sees a person tumble into the river he can find a handy telephone directly connected to the precinct station. A motorcycle and siren, equipped with pulmotor, etc., is ready to answer emergency calls.

"Honk, honk," here comes a new symphony!

It is entitled "Americans in Paris" and contains a honking motive produced by French taxi horns. The composer is George Gershwin, composer of "Rhapsody in Blue" and "The Man I Love."

"More is accomplished in hard work than in mere inspiration," said Mr. Gershwin. He did not rely on memories of taxi honking in French streets but experimented in his own studio with a dozen different brands of horns.

MUCH INTEREST IN PLANE CLUB

Much interest has already developed in the Model Airplane club now being organized under the auspices of the Lease Drug Co. Over 100 members have already enrolled.

The first meeting will be called soon and in the meantime the members will receive the first lesson and full instructions as to how to proceed to obtain the materials to build their own planes.

The object of this club is to teach the boys practical lessons in aviation and airplane construction.

Those who do not wish to build their own planes and learn to fly them are not wanted in the club. No money is required to join and many planes and kits will be given away free to club members, but the instructions and lessons provided show how to build model planes out of material easily at hand.

Several hundred model planes are expected to appear in the final field day tests which will take place this fall. Practical experience will be given. There is no limit to the number or styles of planes a boy can build.

The planes on display are not for sale, but are to be awarded to the club members from week to week to encourage them in the work of studying aviation and building their own models. Even the smallest planes have made some flights on the postoffice lot.

Cleveland—For the second time in four days, George E. Olenburg has had to call upon coast guardsmen here to tow his cabin cruiser to safety from Lake Erie waters. Coast guardsmen today reported they went to the rescue of Olenburg and three of his guests recently when the motor of his cruiser stalled, just as it did four days ago. The craft was a mile out this time.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE
She Discusses Bathing Suits.

I'm worried about bathing suits. Some of the new ones are so funny that I don't know how I shall be fashionable and yet comfortable in the plain ones that I insist on wearing. Anything but a tiny jersey skirt is such a nuisance to swim in and not one of the newer models is completely plain.

The newest ones are in linen—very cute, but I'm sure they'd get water-soaked and be uncomfortable. Others are in beautiful taffetas and printed silks and they all have trim ensemble jackets.

Quite the most sensible one of all I've modeled lately is a two-piece combination of black satin and gray jersey. Satin is set on the jersey overpiece in elongated bolero style and also fashions a rolled collar and boat tie. The jersey skirt is short and plain and trunks of jersey appear beneath. Swimmable and stylish.

Dolly Matthews came into the shop and bought it yesterday. "At last," she exclaimed, "I've found a cute suit that's sensible. I can't enjoy a swim in yards of stupid material and I won't have fashion people tyrannizing over me and telling me that I must wear taffeta or what not when it's jersey I want. But this suit is ideal—it's cunning and comfortable."

Madame chimed in. "Why don't you do what Mrs. Allen does?" she asked. "She slips a fuzzy suit over plain Annettes, goes down to the sea in style, strips off the overskirt in the water and tosses it back on the beach. After a vigorous swim she has some one toss it back to her and comes back from the sea, again in style."

"Too much of a nuisance," replied

Swimmable Suit of Black Satin and Gray Jersey.

Miss Matthews. "I can't be bothered carrying a hickory limb down to the water with me every time I want a dip. I prefer a good old jersey—especially when I've been lucky enough to find one as comfortable and stylish as this is."

Physicians Endorse Method To Curb Pernicious Anemia

Minneapolis, Minn., July 3.—Pernicious anemia, dread disease which destroys the vitally necessary red corpuscles of the blood and leads to eventual death of those afflicted with it, has been brought finally under control.

Announcement to this effect was made here at the clinical sessions of the 79th annual convention of the American Medical association held in Minneapolis.

Hailed as a discovery of great importance, the specific substance which halts destruction of red blood corpuscles has been traced to two internal animal organs—the liver and kidney.

Report on Results

Reporting on the results of their experiments in feeding liver and kidney to scores of persons suffering with pernicious anemia, a group of physicians from eastern cities described to the 10,000 delegates and visitors in attendance at the convention dramatic experiences in the use of the new treatment. Included among the physicians who are credited with developing the new treatment were Dr. George H. Whipple of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. George R. Minot, of Boston; Dr. James H. Means, of Boston; Dr. Randolph West of New York city; Dr. E. H. Heath of Baltimore, and Dr. Thomas Ordway of Albany, N. Y.

The physicians reported that although the red blood corpuscles count of patients had fallen to 1,000,000 per cubic millimeter or less, as compared with a normal count of 5,000,000, feeding of liver as a prominent part of the daily diet quickly raised the red blood corpuscle count toward the normal level.

Issue Caution

The section on pharmacology and therapeutics, before which the reports of liver treatment were read, was cautioned, however, that the treatment must be maintained or the patient will suffer a relapse after recovery has apparently been achieved. Raw liver, cooked liver, liver extract or raw or cooked kidney all appear to have beneficial effect, Dr. Means, reporting on a series of 65 patients with the disease, declared.

Dr. Whipple's work laid the foundation for original experiments undertaken with the new treatment by Dr. Minot and others in the group. Pernicious anemia has been one of the major causes of death.

Discovery of a successful treatment for pernicious anemia has raised the question whether the disease is not caused by deficiency in the diet rather than some poison or infection, as had been formerly supposed, Dr. Means declared.
